GRANT WRITING FORUM

Monday, October 1, 9:00–12:30 pm
Winship Ballroom (Dobbs University Center)

Register by September 21

Learn how to begin planning, developing and funding your projects and proposals at Emory and for external funders. Graduate students at all levels in the humanities and social sciences will benefit from attending this introductory session on project development and mapping out a graduate career. Many students attend more than once during their time at Emory, so be sure to register now to secure your place at this important forum! Topics include:

- Which Grant When?
- Ethics in Research
- How to Write a Proposal
- How are Proposals Read? Judging and Evaluating Research Proposals
- Surviving and Succeeding: Emory Students on Applying for Grants

Register by September 21, by sending an email to mgilstr@emory.edu.

Include your name, program and year of study.

The session fills quickly, so register early!
